National Merit Semifinalists

Qualifying Scores

Class of 2020

High school students who take the PSAT in the October of their junior year and score in the 99th percentile may qualify for the National Merit Scholarships.

Not all students in the 99th percentile will be National Merit Semifinalists. Each state has a different cut off score for qualification.

The score is obtained from the total of the three sections of the PSAT: the critical reading, math, and writing scores. The highest potential score is 240 since each section of the PSAT is scored on a scale of 20 to 80 points.
